Middletown Residence

This project involved removal of an existing home built in 1995 and construction of a new 3300 s.f. home. The home has views of the Sakonnet River in Middletown, RI. The exterior walls and roof are clad with red cedar shingles and copper. The chimney and portions of the foundation are clad in stone. The interior ceiling in the Living room and Family Room have tongue and groove ceilings with exposed Douglas fir framing members. The interior is punctuated with a sophisticated millwork and white oak flooring.
