Mill Street Inn, Newport

CONSTRUCTION MANAGEMENT PROJECT

Restoration of a Newport hotel lobby and reception area. The building was formerly an operating lumber mill and had been converted to a hotel in the 1980's. Recognized in Rhode Island Monthly for an award winning design. First phase removal and replacement of a failed light weight concrete deck. The project involved cladding the interior spaces with maple panels edged with mahogany, a new reception desk, new lighting and the installation of porcelain tile on the floor. The work was completed while the hotel was in operation.
